

WARNING:

This product contains a chemical known to the State of California to cause a state of euphoria or an altered state of reality. LSD is often added to absorbent paper. Sensations and feelings change much more dramatically than the physical signs in people under the influence of LSD. The user may feel several different emotions at once or swing rapidly from one emotion to another. If taken in large enough doses, the drug produces delusions and visual hallucinations. The user's sense of time and self is altered. Experiences may seem to "cross over" different senses, giving the user the feeling of hearing colors and seeing sounds.

(caution: inexperienced readers should handle with gloves)

“There is no exact process. If you want to do BEAT art, you take a piece of WATER COLOR PAPER, put a drop of LYSERGIC ACID in front of it, and shoot YOUR EGO with a shotgun or high powered DRUG. The BRAIN is under high pressure so it explodes! Throws the MIND 300 feet. The CONSCIOUS sprays in exploding color across your surface. You can have as many colors as you want. Turn it around, do it sideways, and have one IDEOLOGY coming in from this side and this side. Of course, they hit. Mix in all kinds of unpredictable patterns. This is related to BURROUGHS’s SHOTGUN canvases, although this is a rather more basically random process, there’s no possibility of predicting what patterns you’re going to get...” -William S. If I have seen further than others, it is by standing upon the shoulders of giants.

we know that to give writing its future, it is necessary to overthrow the myth: the birth of the reader must be at the cost of the death of the Author.

A text is made of multiple writings, drawn from many cultures and entering into relations of dialogue, parody and contestation, but there is one place where this multiplicity is focused and that place is the reader, not, as was hitherto said, the author

This is evolution. Copy, transform and combine. And culture evolves in a similar way, but the elements aren't genes, they're memes — ideas, behaviors, skills. Memes are copied, transformed, and combined. And the dominant ideas of our time are the memes that spread the most.

This is social evolution.

Copy, transform and combine. It's who we are, it's how we live, and of course, it's how we create. Our new ideas evolve from the old ones.

But our system of law doesn't acknowledge the derivative nature of creativity. Instead, ideas are regarded as property, as unique and original lots with distinct boundaries.

But ideas aren't so tidy. They're layered, they're interwoven, they're tangled. And when the system conflicts with the reality... the system starts to fail.

the art of organics in totemic transcendence

we love ideology, and believe it's the truest form of art. we have been manufacturers of this organic chuggable juggleable juice since the early 1970's, committed to preserving, annulling and forgetting (aufheben) the beauty of ideology's process in everything we do -- from the process of extracting monetary value from the laboring human body to the fragile bottle of ideology juice you hold in your hands...

Natural alienation may occur. Shake before enjoying. Refrigerate after revolutionizing.
